

October New Letter

Dear parents:

Wow, October already! The first few weeks have gone by so quickly; the children have transitioned nicely into the rules and routine of school. They have also made lots of new friends. We spent the first two weeks of school getting to know each other. I have really enjoyed getting to know all about your children. We finished up September learning about the letters Aa, Bb and apples.

The children will be encouraged to work at centers to reinforce the themes, numbers, and letters that we are covering weekly. They will be working on one-to-one correspondence in the math center, dissecting a pumpkin and exploring what is inside at the Science Center, and letter recognition, as well as writing in the literacy center. As always, the classroom library fosters pre-reading skills for the children which is a vital precursor to reading.

Our religion lesson will continue to focus on the theme 'I am Special. The children will learn how wonderful they are and how much God loves them!
